HARRY THAW HELD FOR SHOOTING WHITE

New York Thrown Into Uproar Over

Young Pittsburger Fires Across Fashionable Audience
And Kills Man Who He Says Ruined His Wife—May Feign Insanity.

New York, June 26.—Thaw passed a sleepless night in the police station. He was taken to headquarters this morning where Bertillon measurements and photographs were taken. He was then handcuffed to a policeman and taken in a patrol wagon to Jefferson Market court for argument before the coroner, and committed to the Tombs without bail to await the inquest which probably will be held Thursday. Up to now his wife had not been located. Thaw's defense will be insanity.

New York, June 26.—Harry Thaw, member of the prominent Pittsburg family, is under arrest in connection with the shooting of Stanford White, architect, of the firm of McKim, White and White. White was shot and most instantly killed in the Madison Square garden during the performance of the musical extravaganza, "Mam'selle Pompadour." The roof garden, which has been closed for several years, was crowded with a fashionable audience. While Harry Thaw, who is the principal comedy role in the piece, was singing a comic song a series of shots was heard in the rear of the auditorium and a man in evening dress was seen to fall across a table at which he was sitting with a party of friends. The man who had the shots fired, pistol in hand, ward the nearest exit, where he was seized and disarmed by police. Instantly the great audience was thrown into a panic and a wild stampede occurred, during which chairs and tables were overturned and men and women fought with desperation to escape from the roof. The man who is shot was quickly identified as Mr. White, but his assailant was not positively known to be Thaw until after he had been taken to the station house. Persons in front of the auditorium here the tragedy occurred say that they saw a man sitting with a fashionably dressed woman in the rear suddenly walk down toward a table in front. The first intimation of trouble came when, walking in front of his seated victim, the man exclaimed: "You've deserved this. You've ruined my home," and drawing an automatic pistol fired three shots. The first two took effect, but as the third was discharged the pistol was struck up by a woman on duty in the theatre and the bullet went skyward.

To Policeman Dobbs, who placed him under arrest, Thaw handed $100 and asked him to notify Andrew Carnegie that he was in trouble. Thaw, it is reported, said after the tragedy: "I deserved what he got. He ruined my life and deserted the girl."

At the station Mr. Thaw described himself as John Smith, a student, of 10 Lafayette place, Washington, D. C., at the police, on searching him, and cards and letters addressed to Harry Thaw of Pittsburg, and later his identity was fully established. Following the tragedy the performance at the roof garden was discontinued.

to her marriage. Mrs. Thaw disappeared in the excitement while her husband was being taken to the station house.

Evelyn Nesbitt, who became Thaw's wife on April 4, 1905, was a flower girl in "The Toreador" company. They were married in Pittsburg by the Rev. William H. McEwan of the Third Presbyterian church. Thaw's mother, Mrs. William Thaw, in spite of earlier opposition, was present. Miss Nesbitt is the daughter of C. J. Holman of Oakland, a suburb of Pittsburg.

Mr. White was a native of New York city, having been born here in 1853. He was educated at the University of New York and received his architectural training with Charles G. Gambrill and H. H. Richardson, being the chief assistant of the latter in the construction of the famous Trinity church, Boston, Dr. Phillips Brooks' church.

HARRY THAW.

Sketch of the Man Who is Said to Have Done the Shooting.

Pittsburg, June 26.—Harry Kendall Thaw is about 36 years of age and is the son of the late William Thaw, who was vice president of the Pennsylvania lines west. He was a graduate of the Western University of Pennsylvania and when in Pittsburg made his home with his mother at Lyndhurst. Since his graduation from college and the attainment of his majority Thaw has lived little in Pittsburg. Much of his time has been spent abroad, and it was while in Paris that he met Evelyn Nesbitt, the actress, whom he afterward married and who was with him when he is alleged to have done the shooting.

Harry Thaw is a brother of J. Copley Thaw, the Countess of Yarmouth, who was Miss Alice Thaw, and also of Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie of Cumberland, Pa. He is also a half brother of Benjamin Thaw. Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry, sailed for Europe Saturday on one of the slow steamers to visit her daughter, the Countess of Yarmouth. Harry and his bride were booked to sail on Wednesday of this week.

At the conclusion of this business the board adjourned.

Little Want Ad Caused a Regular Parade

"Wont you PLEASE take that ad of mine out" called Mrs. William Parsons over the phone Tuesday morning to The Age. "I am being bothered to death and have no time at all to myself so many people are constantly coming to my door." Mrs. Parsons advertised a house for rent in the cheap Want Column of The Daily Age and says that she had an applicant and had rented the house to good advantage the first night the ad appeared, and even before her own paper had been delivered to the house. It is indeed wonderful the drawing power a little ad in The Age possesses.

RANDLES TO GET $800 HE HAD LET GO

Supreme Court Decision
Gives County Auditors
School Percentages.

Auditor Randles will get about $800 that he thought had fled from him forever. Last winter a law was enacted that the auditors could not collect their one per cent. on the school funds, but the supreme court has declared the act cannot be retroactive. These means Auditor Randles will get $499.40 from last December's tax and about $306 from this June's tax. The Associated Press says:

Columbus, O., June 26.—The county auditors will get for the year 1905 their two-tenths per cent fees for handling the school funds. The legislature abolished this fee. The supreme court held that for back years the fees were legal, but could not be paid out of the tax fund, as that had already been distributed. County Auditor Eugene Lewis of Hamilton county, who had brought the suit against Rudolph K. Hynicka, treasurer of the same county, did not give up the contention. He succeeded in getting the court to modify the journal entry in the case and permit the auditors to collect their fees out of any delinquent taxes for the year 1905, which may have been collected.

UNION LABEL MAY BE TAKEN

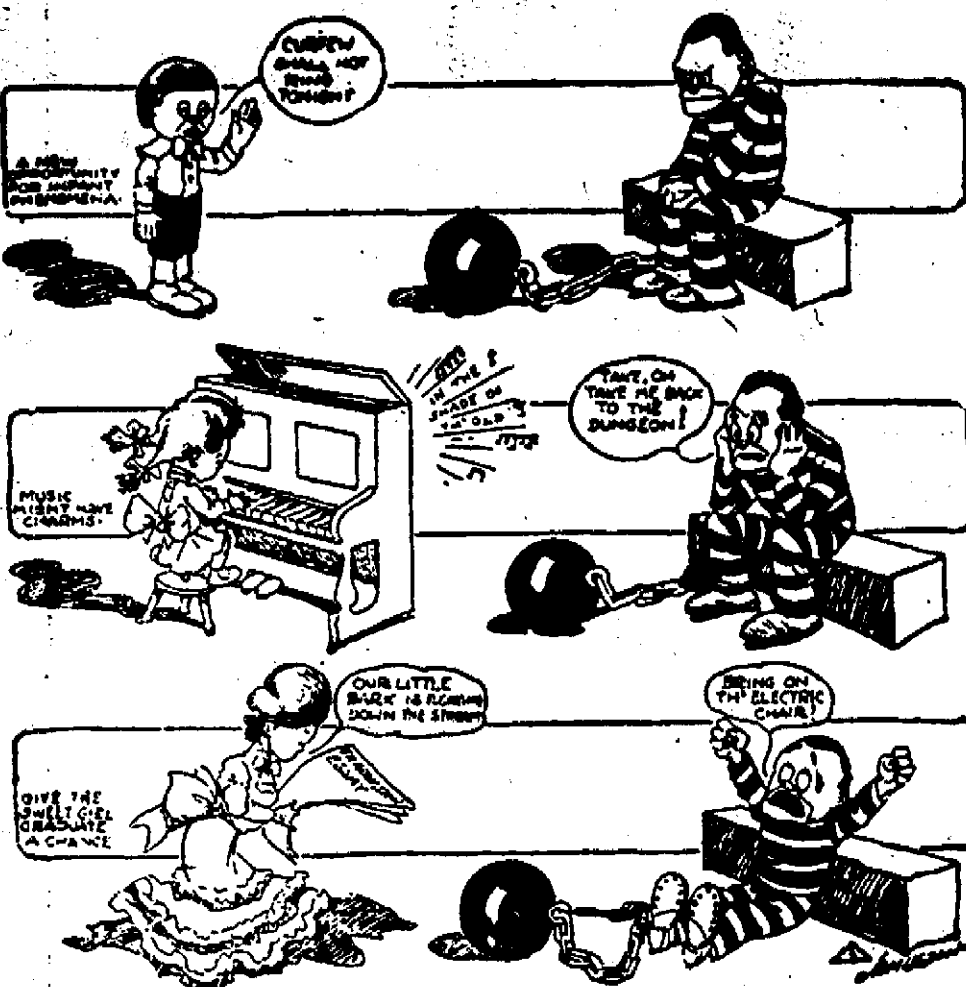

Milwaukee, Wis., June 26.—A resolution by which the delegates of boot and shoe workers are to be protected in case their prolonged absence from the factories causes trouble with their employers was passed by the convention of International Boot and Shoe Workers' union. Considerable time was devoted to a general discussion upon the advisability of demanding the forfeiting of the union stamp by some of the large factories in the east. It is alleged that many of the open shops do not meet the requirements of the organization, although they have been granted the privilege of the union stamp. The convention finally decided to warn such factories that if the required changes were not made before August the right to the union label would be withdrawn.

A Stove that Pays for Itself

That's what the New Method Gas Range does. How? By saving you 25 per cent. of your gas bill.

The New Method Gas Range

Is made of key steel instead of cast iron. This steel being highly polished does away with all friction on the passage of the air and gas through the burner allowing a larger quantity of air to be taken up and mixed properly with the gas than can be in the thick, rough cast iron burners. The more air burned the less gas. Accurate tests made by gas experts in different parts of the country have shown an average of 25 per cent. less consumption of gas from the New Method, than from any other burner.

The steel plates in New Method Ranges are coated on both sides with enamel baked on so hard that it is not effected by heat or will not rust. Steel coated in this way will outwear cast iron and then they're the easiest to clean.

New method ranges are guaranteed for five years. Sold by

by GEORGE BARR M'GUTHRIE

Author of "Gruantark"

Although the afternoon was well spent before Beverly reached Ganlook, she was resolved to visit the obdurate patient at once, relying upon her resourcefulness to secure his promise to start with her for Edelweiss on the following morning. The coach delivered her at the hospital door in grand style. When the visitor was ushered into the snug little anteroom of the governor's office her heart was throbbing and her composure was undergoing a most unusual strain. It annoyed her to discover that the approaching contact with a humble goat hunter was giving her such unmistakable symptoms of perturbation.

From an upstairs window in the hospital the convalescent but unhappy patient witnessed her approach and arrival. His rose, lonely heart gave a bound of joy, for the days had seemed long since her departure. He had had time to think during these days too. Turning over in his mind all of the details in connection with their meeting and their subsequent intercourse, it began to dawn upon him that she might not be what she assumed to be. Doubts assailed him, suspicions grew into amazing forms of certainty. There were times when he laughed sardonically at himself for being taken in by this strange but charming young woman, but through it all his heart and mind were being drawn more and more fervently toward her. More than once he called himself a fool and more than once he dreamed foolish dreams of her, princess or not. Of one thing he was sure—he had come to love the adventure for the sake of what it promised, and there was no bitterness beneath his suspicions.

Arrayed in clean linen and presentable clothes, pale from indoor confinement and fever, but once more the straight and strong cavalier of the hills, he hastened into her presence when the summons came for him to descend. He dropped to his knee and kissed her hand, determined to play the game notwithstanding his doubts. As he arose she glanced for a flitting second into his dark eyes, and her own long lashes drooped.

"Your highness!" he said gratefully. "How well and strong you look!" she said hurriedly. "Some of the tan is gone, but you look as though you had never been ill. Are you quite recovered?"

"They say I am as good as new," he smilingly answered. "A trifle weak and uncertain in my lower extremities, but a few days of exercise in the mountains will overcome all that. Is all well with you and Graustark? They will give me no news here, by whose order I do not know."

"Turn about is fair play, sir. It is a well established fact that you will give them no news. Yes, all is well with me and mine. Were you beginning to think that I had deserted you? It has been two weeks, hasn't it?"

"Ah, your highness, I realize that you have had much more important things to do than to think of poor Baldos. I am exceedingly grateful for this sign of interest in my welfare. Your visit is the brightest experience of my life."

"Be seated!" she cried suddenly. "You are too ill to stand."

"Were I dying I should refuse to be seated while your highness stands," said he simply. His shoulders seemed to square themselves involuntarily, and his left hand twitched as though accustomed to the habit of touching a sword hilt. Beverly sat down instantly. With his usual easy grace he took a chair near by. They were alone in the antechamber.

"Even though you were on your last legs!" she murmured, and then wondered how she could have uttered anything so inane. Somehow she was beginning to fear that he was not the ordinary person she had judged him to be. "You are to be discharged from the hospital tomorrow," she added hastily.

"Tomorrow?" he cried, his eyes lighting with joy. "I may go then?"

"I have decided to take you to Edelweiss with me," she said, very much as if that were all there was to it. He stared at her for a full minute as though doubting his ears.

"No!" he said at last, his jaws setting, his eyes glistening. It was a terrible setback for Beverly's confidence. "Your highness forgets that I have your promise of absolute freedom."

"But you are to be free," she protested. "You have nothing to fear. It is not compulsory, you know. You don't have to go unless you really want to. But my heart is set on having you in the castle guard." His bitter, mocking laugh surprised and wounded her, which he was quick to see, for his contrition was immediate.

"Pardon, your highness. I am a rude, ungrateful wretch, and I deserve punishment instead of reward. The proposal was so astounding that I forgot myself completely," he said.

Whereupon, catching him in this contrite mood, she began a determined assault against his resolution. For an hour she devoted her whole heart and soul to the task of overcoming his prejudices, fears and objections, meeting his protestations firmly and logically, unconscious of the fact that her very enthusiasm was betraying her to him. The first signs of weakening inspired her afresh and at last she was riding over him roughshod, a happy victor. She made promises that Yette herself could not have made; she offered inducements that never could be carried out, although in her zeal she did not know it to be so; she painted such pictures of ease, comfort and pleasure that he wondered why royalty did not exchange places with its servants. In the end, overcome by the spirit of adventure and a desire to be near her, he agreed to enter the service for six months, at the expiration of which time he was to be released from all obligations if he so desired.

"But my friends in the pass, your highness," he said in surrendering, "what is to become of them? They are waiting for me out there in the wilderness. I am not base enough to desert them."

"Can't you get word to them?" she asked eagerly. "Let them come into the city too. We will provide for the poor fellows, believe me."

"That, at least, is impossible, your highness," he said, shaking his head sadly. "You will have to slay them before you can bring them within the city gates. My only hope is that Franz may be here tonight. He has permission to enter, and I am expecting him today or tomorrow."

"You can send word to them that you are sound and safe, and you can tell them that Graustark soldiers shall be instructed to pay no attention to them whatever. They shall not be disturbed." He laughed outright at her enthusiasm. Many times during her eager conversation with Baldos she had almost betrayed the fact that she was not the princess. Some of her expressions were distinctly unregal, and some of her slips were hopeless as she viewed them in retrospect.

"What am I? Only the humble goat hunter, hunted to death and eager for a short respite. Do with me as you like, your highness. You shall be my princess and sovereign for six months at least," he said, sighing. "Perhaps it is for the best."

"You are the strangest man I've ever seen," she remarked, puzzled beyond expression.

That night Franz appeared at the hospital and was left alone with Baldos for an hour or more. What passed between them no outsider knew, though there were tears in the eyes of both at the parting. But Franz did not start for the pass that night, as they had expected. Strange news had come to the ears of the faithful old follower, and he hung about Ganlook until morning came, eager to catch the ear of his leader before it was too late.

The coach was drawn up in front of the hospital at 8 o'clock. Beverly triumphantly in command. Baldos came down the steps slowly, carefully, favoring the newly healed ligaments in his legs. She smiled cheerily at him, and he swung his raptur'd hat low. There was no sign of the black patch. Suddenly he started and peered intently into the little knot of people near the coach. A look of anxiety crossed his face. From the crowd advanced a grizzled old beggar, who boldly extended his hand. Baldos grasped the proffered hand and then stepped into the coach. No one saw the bit of white paper that passed from Franz's palm into the possession of Baldos. Then the coach was off for Edelweiss, the people of Ganlook enjoying the unusual spectacle of a mysterious and apparently undistinguished stranger sitting in luxurious ease beside a fair lady in the royal coach of Graustark.

THE ORDER OF P. OF H.

An Outline of Its Organization by O. H. Kelley Forty Years Ago.

The old yet ever new story of the organization of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry has been again retold by Mortimer Whitehead in the American Agriculturist. The Order, he says, originated in the mind of O. H. Kelley, a man of New England birth, who went to Minnesota in his early manhood and became a farmer there. In 1864 he was appointed a clerk in the department of agriculture at Washington. Two years later, in January, 1866, Mr. Kelley was commissioned by the Hon. Isaac Newton, commissioner of agriculture, to visit the southern states for the purpose of obtaining statistical and other information in regard to conditions there. It was while traveling in the south that the thought of a secret society of agriculturists for the protection and advancement of their interests and as an element to restore kindly feelings among the people first occurred to Mr. Kelley.

The idea of giving women full membership in the proposed Order originated with Miss Caroline A. Hall of Boston, a niece of Mr. Kelley, to whom he had imparted his views of the new association upon his return from the south. In the full formation of the Order six men were directly associated with Mr. Kelley. They were William Saunders of the department of agriculture, who next to Mr. Kelley did most in originating the Order; Rev. A. B. Grosh of the same department, William M. Ireland of the postoffice department, Rev. John Trimble and J. R. Thompson of the treasury department and F. M. McDowell, a pomologist of Wayne, N. Y. For nearly two years these men labored with a faith and zeal amounting almost to inspiration until, with the assistance of friends who became interested in the plan, they completed a well devised scheme of organization, based upon a ritual of four degrees for men and four for women, which is unsurpassed in the English language for originality of thought, purity of sentiment and beauty of diction.

Having formed a constitution to govern the Order to which this ritual was adapted, these men met Dec. 8, 1867, and constituted themselves the National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, with William Saunders as master, J. H. Thompson lecturer, William M. Ireland treasurer and O. H. Kelley secretary. The little brown building in which the organization was effected was at that time the office of Mr. Saunders, and stood embowered among the trees in the gardens of the agricultural department. Later Colonel Alken of South Carolina and others made vigorous efforts to have the government preserve this historic building, but they were unsuccessful. The first subordinate grange was organized in Washington Jan. 8, 1868, as a school of instruction, with William M. Ireland as master. The first dispensation for a grange was granted at Harrisburg, Pa., April 4, 1868, but the first regular subordinate grange to which a charter was issued was organized at Fredonia, N. Y., April 16, 1868. The first state grange was that of Minnesota, Feb. 22, 1869.

The new Order made slow progress up to 1872, only 257 granges having been organized in the entire country. During that year, however, 1,105 were organized, and the Order had an existence in twenty-two states. The first meeting of the national grange as a delegate body was held at Georgetown, D. C., Jan. 8, 1873, with six of the founders of the Order and seventeen delegates present, representing eleven states. In addition to these there were four women present—namely, Miss Caroline A. Hall, Mrs. O. H. Kelley, Mrs. D. W. Adams and Mrs. J. C. Abbott. Previous to this meeting there were only 1,362 granges, but by the end of the year 1875 30,000 charters had been issued.

WHO MAY JOIN THE GRANGE.

State Master Fuller of New York interprets the Law.

One of the duties devolving upon the master of a state grange is the interpretation of grange law, and one of the most frequent questions referred to the master is, "Who are eligible to membership in the grange?" Hardly a mail comes to the master's desk, says George A. Fuller, master of New York state grange, which does not contain one letter asking this question, and not infrequently four or five in the same mail. The primary qualification for membership in our Order is plainly set forth in the constitution—namely, that the applicant must be engaged in agricultural pursuits and that he must have no occupation in conflict with our purposes and that he or she has reached the age of fourteen years. The grange is essentially a farmer's organization, and as such it should be made up of farmers and their families. It may be delightful to have our friends who are not farmers with us on occasion, but to take them into active membership in the grange is clearly unconstitutional and undesirable. Emergencies are constantly arising in which the interests of farmers are not identical with the interests of other classes and industries, and under such circumstances it becomes an embarrassment to have members of the Order who are working and acting in opposition to the interests of the majority. Let us keep the grange a farmer's organization for farmers.

A FACT ABOUT DANDRUFF

Should convince even the most skeptical of its truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is completely by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks time. It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only permanent baldness is the destruction of the germs which are in successful competition with one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide. Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

Accept no substitute. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

LAWYERS AND LYNCHING.
Lynching is the direct outgrowth of the law's delay. A revolting crime is perpetrated; the neighborhood is stirred to a mighty wrath; a mob is formed and the fellow under suspicion, whether guilty or innocent, is put to death. The mob demands prompt punishment for the criminal. It reads the shrewd tactics of lawyers and the indefinite delay those tactics may produce, and so it commits the outrage of ignoring the law and scoring the courts. It wreaks its own vengeance.
Quickness of action, without the sacrifice of any proper chances of the prisoner to establish his guiltlessness, is needed in our American courts. And if the lawyers involved in the various court cases would exert themselves to bring about quick decisions instead of lying awake at night to devise ways to defer decisions, we could come near having it. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

Commissioner to Be Elected This Fall

Columbus, June 26—By decision of the supreme court Tuesday morning county commissioners will be elected this fall. It was held by some that under the law of last winter extending the terms of county officers, there would be no election of county commissioners this fall. To test the question Sheriff Mulhearn, of Cuyahoga county, refused to issue a call for the election of commissioners. The court Tuesday sustained the demurrage to his answer and ordered a peremptory writ of mandamus.

Mrs. C. Sherrard, of 526 Wheeling avenue, Cambridge, O., says: "For a long time I suffered off and on with dull heavy aching in the small of the back and through the loins. The kidneys were out of order, and often the pain would be so severe that I could not do even the lightest housework. I was usually depressed and weary in the morning. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and found prompt relief. In time the treatment corrected the action of the kidneys and rid me of the lameness and aching in the back. I highly recommend them to all sufferers from backache or kidney trouble."

COAL TAX
Mr. Pomerene declared that it was a customary coal deed and as there are no mineral deposits other than coal in the county, it made no material difference.
There are three horns to the dilemma:
1 The value of the coal lands for taxation.
2 Their separation on the duplicate from the surface.
3 If the tax is to be thus separated, shall it begin with the present year or go back to the last decennial appraisal in 1900 and accrue taxes on the intervening years.
Allen Marshall was first placed on the witness stand.
The grind of witnesses is going slowly and it is hardly likely that the hearing will be concluded before some time tomorrow and it will then be some time before the commissioners give a decision.

How to Save Money From Being Sick

BY A MOTHER WHO KNOWS

Every mother should avoid the possibility of sickness befalling her children in this season. And, of course, most mothers do honestly try to avoid such possibilities, but many do not appreciate the value of the little things that are so easily obtained.

Feed the little folks good, healthful, pure, strengthening food and there need not be any fear.

For many years physicians have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar. Malt-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose.

Malt-Vita, on account of its large percentage of maltose, is easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich healthy blood, is especially beneficial for children and it is so good to eat—not at all like the tasteless variety of breakfast foods—that the little ones always welcome its appearance on the table.

Mrs. Miles McCormick, of South Bend, Ind., says: "We had almost despaired of finding something our baby could eat without being distressed. He had, since birth, been a constant sufferer from constipation and a general derangement of the stomach and bowels. Since we began feeding him Malt-Vita he has improved wonderfully and is entirely cured of constipation."

Malt-Vita, all grocers, now 10 cents.

Factories and industrial plants are springing up all over the south and everything is booming.

HONEYMOON IS CUT SHORT BY ARREST

A traveling man, representing a St. Louis firm, was placed under arrest in this city Tuesday morning following a message from the authorities at Canton where it is alleged that he intended jumping a board bill.

The Canton chief of police arrived in the city at noon to get the man and will leave with him on the afternoon train.

It seems that a little haste and undue suspicion on the part of the landlady of a boarding house in Canton is the source of the "knight of the gr's" trouble. To an Age reporter, he explained that he was accompanied on this trip to the east by his bride. Last week they were in an auto accident in Uhrichsville in which he received slight injuries which laid him up for several days at the Canton boarding house. At the same time, there was a delay in his Expense Check from the house and as a result the couple run short on funds. He explained the matter to the landlady when he left on a trip to a number of nearby cities Monday morning.

He even left his baggage with his wife who remained at the house until he should return the latter part of the week when he expected to settle in the meantime expecting funds from the house. The board house keeper became suspicious however, and filed the affidavit.

EXPECT TO OPEN NEW VAUDEVILLE HOUSE SATURDAY

The Shepler-Newton orchestra, which has leased the Main street skating rink building, announces that the new theatre will probably be opened to the public the coming Saturday night. A neat stage has been built in the east end of the room, where the pictures will be shown, for the use of the singers of the illustrated songs and for vaudeville acts that will be brought in from time to time as specialties by the company.

"23" For Chas. Hentzy Meant Fine Evening

Charles Hentzy, the popular glass blower and member of the local aerob of Eagles, was pleasantly surprised by a party of 23 brothers of the lodge as well as other friends Sunday evening. The day was the birthday of Mr. Hentzy and the surprise was planned by his wife who prepared a royal spread while her husband was at the special meeting of the lodge held Sunday afternoon. She phoned to the lodge rooms and asked as many of the members of the order as cared to come to the Hentzy home in the eastern part of the city. A company of 23 followed Mr. Hentzy home and surprised him as well as spent a very pleasant evening. Elegant refreshments were served. The members of the lodge who were present were: Thomas Duffy, George and Milton Bible, Arthur Boyer and Ed. Rose, A. S. Donaldson, Thomas Richards, John Rice, Harrison Elson, Ross Wilson, Anthony Roebuck, Fred Blomberg, Elmer Guthrie, William Ponside, George Young, John Comp Carle Belline and Mr. McCleary.

Denver Club Women Want Some Woman's Face To Adorn a U. S. Postage Stamp

Denver, June 23.—Club women of Denver are taking the initiative in a movement to secure the adoption of a woman's postage stamp—a stamp having upon it the likeness of a woman.

At a meeting of a woman's club here, held a few days before the Colorado delegation left for St. Paul to attend the annual convention of the National Federation of Women's clubs the idea was discussed informally and it was decided, through petition, and, if possible, with the cooperation of the Colorado delegation in congress, to bring the matter to the attention of congress at its next regular session. Meanwhile the women propose securing the co-operation of club women in as many other states as possible.

To ascertain the sentiment of the members present as to the woman's stamp most worthy to have the honor of having her picture used a straw vote was taken. Susan B. Anthony was an easy winner, but Martha Washington, Frances Willard, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker of Denver, the president of the National Federation, and Carrie Chapman Catt each had supporters.

The Denver women believe they are entitled to be regarded as leaders of the movement, not only because of their present activity in the matter but also because in this state the women's rights cause has taken deeper root than in almost any other.

Not only do the women of Colorado vote in school and municipal elections as is the case with their sisters in a number of other states, but they also vote for president and members of congress.

At one time they were represented in the lower house of the Colorado legislature by a member of their own sex. The women were an important factor, too, in a special election called recently to vote upon the issuance of franchises to street railway, gas and electric light companies.

They are recognized as a factor to be considered in campaigns and many of their number have developed into influential political leaders. The Woman's club here, the leading organization maintained by members of the sex, occupies one of the handsomest club houses in the west.

The idea of a woman's postage stamp is not strictly original, but the present plan goes further than any ever before proposed. France has a woman's stamp, but this is placed upon a letter alongside the regular government stamp and not as a substitute for it. The government stamp represents a young woman resting her hand upon a table which bears a motto, "Rights of Man," while the stamp adopted by the women is a reverse of this showing a young man resting his hand upon a table with the motto "Rights of Woman."

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, then president of the National Federation, advocated the adoption of a similar stamp in America at the federation's convention in Washington a few years ago.

American forests abound in which possess the most valuable virtues is abundantly attested by the most eminent medical men and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the white race. This information was imparted freely to the whites, led to continue investigations until we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Pierce believes that our American forests are the most valuable medicinal roots in the world. The cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases, if we would properly investigate them, is in confirmation of this conviction. He has with pride to the almost marvelous effect by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorant, heart tonic and regulator, and blood purifier known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other diseases, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works, which is mailed free to any address by Dr. J. C. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvellous, in the unparalleled success it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses, and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic drains, painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus and other displacements caused by weakness, ulceration of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines, and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle wrapper.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by C. E. Anderson, the Coshocton druggist, and also by C. M. Ferguson, the Roscoe druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

BANK CLERK,

Charged With Embezzlement, Is Placed Under Arrest.

Poynette, Wis., June 26.—Discrepancies covering a period of several years and amounting to at least $50,000 are said to have been revealed as a result of the arrest of Fred C. Price on a charge of embezzlement. Price was until recently clerk in the bank of Poynette. Most of the discrepancies are said to have been adjusted. Price is said to have invested $20,000 in a farm in Minnesota and to have had a $10,000 interest in a hardware store in Poynette. He owned a residence in Poynette recently paid for worth about $5,000, which was handsomely furnished. All of this property, it is said, has been turned over to cover the alleged shortage. Price is out on bail awaiting trial at the December term of the circuit court.

Deadly Windstorm.

Guthrie, Okla., June 26.—Two persons were killed, extensive damage done to livestock and crops and many houses demolished by the general windstorm that swept over Oklahoma and Indian Territory. Thomas Graham, who lived near Roosevelt, Okla., was struck by lightning and instantly killed and the scorched body of Mrs. Tobin, near Perry, Okla., was found in a barn. In and near Lawton the damage by wind was unusually heavy. One family left the house and saw the structure sucked up in the whirlwind and turned over and over. At Snyder the loss was heavy. Wheat did not suffer as much as corn.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Patterns For Petticoat and Corset Cover by Martha Dean—Nos. 6316 and 6530

The desire for dainty underwear is a distinctly feminine trait, and few women are entirely content without some nice lingerie. Daintiness does not mean elaborate. On the contrary, some of the finest imported garments are without adornment, having simplicity and fine workmanship as their hall mark of quality. This corset cover is a simple, sensible model, having a low round neck and plenty of fullness over the bust. It is in one piece and fastens in front with small buttons or the strings. A fine heading run with white ribbon and edged with a full narrow lace forms a pretty finish. If more work is to be put upon it, the neck might be buttonholed and small eyelets made through which to run ribbon. The neck might be drawn up in this manner with a result far more individual and attractive. The cover is finished at the lower edge by a pleatum, which is circular in shape, thus insuring a smooth fit over the hips.

The petticoat is a five gored model finished with a circular flounce and several ruffles. This will serve as a suggestion for the new petticoat, as it can be made up in any petticoat material and will admit of various modes of trimming. For warm weather wear the natural colored linen or madras is very serviceable, as is also pongee, silk or moreen for cooler weather. Two patterns—No. 6316, in six sizes, 22 to 42 inches bust; No. 6530, in six sizes, 20 to 30 inches waist.

Send 20 cents to this office, give numbers of these patterns, Nos. 6316 and 6530, and state sizes desired. They will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. Or either of the patterns will be sent for 10 cents. Be sure to write plainly and always give full address. Several days must be allowed for delivery of pattern.

INNOVATION ON MUSKOKA LAKES

Those who patronize the Muskoka Lakes in the "Highlands of Ontario" during the summer season will be glad to know that the Muskoka Navigation Company have added to their fleet a fine new steel twin-screw steamer, 152 feet long, with a carrying capacity of 800 people. The new boat is called the "Sagamo." Her design is known as the day boat observation type, her deck space and cabins being so constructed as to afford passengers an opportunity of seeing the scenery from all sides.

Steamer will be fitted out in the most modern style, having a dining-room on main deck, which will accommodate ninety people. Steamer is electrically lighted, steered by steam, and will have a speed of sixteen miles per hour.

This new boat will run in connection with the Grand Trunk Railway System's "Midnight Special" from Buffalo, which arrives Muskoka Wharf early in the morning, the boat leaving there at 7 a. m. every day for Port Cockburn via Beaumaris, Port Carling, Windermere, Royal Muskoka, Morinus, Minett, Port Sandfield and the principal points on Lake Joseph, returning to Muskoka Wharf about 7:45 p. m. to connect with the south-bound train. It is expected that the steamer will be put into commission about June 15th, and the Muskoka "Midnight Special" of the Grand Trunk will go to Muskoka on June 25th. July 1

Rising Young Players

Matthew Fitzgerald and Henry Mathewson, a Likely New New York National Battery--Their Careers to Date--Catcher Thomas.

The New York National league club has, upon recommendation of ex-Pitcher Frank Killen, signed for trying out a young catcher named Matthew Fitzgerald, a native of Albany, N. Y.

Fitzgerald is twenty-two years old, stands five feet ten inches in his baseball shoes and weighs 185 pounds. He is a temperate young man, of excellent habits and good education. Recently he was married to an Albany girl.

He first attracted attention as a member of the Catholic Union team of Albany. He caught in brilliant fashion last season for the Sharon (Pa.) team, which was managed by Killen.

Hugh Duffy made him a Philadelphia offer, which he declined. Killen thinks that Fitzgerald will develop into one of the best batting and base running catchers in the National league. He is very fast getting down to first base, and because of this Killen instructed him to bat last handed.

Sharon played only the best semi-professional teams, and Fitzgerald's average is therefore indicative of real ability. He is said to possess a fine throwing arm, and, above all, he has a head and can keep it during a game.

Ira Thomas, the rising young catcher of the New York American league club, was born in Ballston Spa, N. Y., Jan. 22, 1881. In his youth he moved to Collinsville, N. Y., where he still makes his winter home, and played with independent clubs at both places. He first played professionally in 1903 with the Hartford club of the Connecticut league. Toward fall he was sold to the Newark Eastern league club and finished the season there.

In the spring of 1903 he refused to accept Newark's terms and was sold to Providence, where he played two seasons under Managers Tom Daly and Jack Duann, and made such strides in his profession that last season he was unquestionably the star catcher of the Eastern league and a rich plum for which several major league clubs contended, New York carrying off the prize.

In Henry Mathewson, Christy's brother, Manager McGraw of the New York Nationals believes he has a youngster who will make good in the major league arena. "Matty" has recommended his "kid" brother so highly that McGraw feels confident Henry will develop into a star, although he does not look for good results this season.

Matty unhesitatingly says his brother will make good. "He now has as much speed as I had when I broke into the game," says Christy, "and he has control and a splendid assortment of curves. All he wants is experience, and with that I am sure he will develop into a star."

"This 'kid,' as Matty calls his brother, is nineteen years old, is six feet tall and weighs 185 pounds. For the last two years he has been pitching on semi-professional teams in Lewisburg and Beranton, Pa., with good results.

Want Reduced Freight Rates.

Kansas City, Mo., June 26.-Carr Taylor, attorney for the Kansas state board of railroad commissioners, announced that a fight is to be made at once in Kansas for a reduced railroad freight rate on cattle. An action will be commenced, he said, which will make the Union Pacific, Rock Island and the main line of the Santa Fe railroads defendants. This will set practically the entire cattle-raising belt of Western Kansas as complainants. "The fight is really to get back the old rate which was had a number of years ago," said Mr. Taylor. "In 1903 the rates were raised."

Plant Will Not Close.

Louisville, Ky., June 26.-The report published in the local papers that the plant of the Louisville Packing company, a branch of Cudahy & Company, would be closed in a few days, is denied in a telegram from John Cudahy of Chicago. The telegram was in response to an inquiry as to whether the Louisville branch would be closed, and reads: "No, we are not going to close the packing house."

$300 A MONTH OFFERED ROBBIE

Outlaw League Tempts Big Coshocton Pitcher.

The outlaws are once again tempting Bill Robertson. The Altoona team of Pennsylvania outlaw league wants the Coshocton lad and is willing to pay him a handsome salary but "Wee Willie" has a grand future before him as a twirler and there is not much doubt but that he will stay in organized baseball. The big league for him in another season or two. A Wheeling dispatch says the following concerning the offer received by Robertson:

The Pennsylvania outlaws are still interfering with Central League players, but with indifferent success. The latest man to be tempted was Pitcher Robertson of Wheeling, who got an offer last week from Altoona of $300 a month and $200 advance money. It meant an increase of 100 per cent in salary, but Robertson prefers to take his chances on a certainty in a stable league. Robertson is pitching winning ball and is one of the most promising twirlers in the Central league.

EARTHQUAKE SHAKES UP APPLE CK. WELL

One of the finest of the many running wells in East Union township, is the one on the farm of James Ryan near Apple Creek. From the day the well was drilled in until the day after the terrible earthquake at San Francisco the volume of water was always the same and as clear as crystal. The water became riley and many small particles of stone and earth were discharged and the supply fell off perceptibly. Th's condition lasted for about two weeks, when the water gradually cleared up and began to flow with its old time force.—Wooster Republican.
